CARRIES WHOLE G. O. P. TICKET INTO OFFICE

ASSURES REPUBLICAN CONTROL OF STATEHOUSE FOR AN-
OTHER 2 YEARS

MAGNUS JOHNSON IS TRAILING
FAR TO REAR WITH FARM-ER-LABOR STANDARD

By WILLIAM E. HALLBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—Governor Theodore Christianson has been returned to office by a majority that mounted higher and higher today as returns from rural districts were reported.

With him Governor Christianson will take into office the entire republican ticket, consisting without exception of candidates for re-election, assuring continued republican control of the state house for another two years.

Magnus Johnson, former United States senator and a veteran campaigner, carried the farmer-labor standard against Christianson, but was trailing far behind the governor.

Alfred Jacques, democrat, is running a poor third and his vote belied the claims of a democratic comeback.

Seven republicans, including six incumbents, and two farmer-labor incumbents, will compose the Minnesota delegation in congress, with the tenth member uncertain.

Just as had been anticipated, the third party lost thousands of votes in those parts of the state where it has not been dominant in the past, but generally retained its hold on the districts which have supported it in the past.

The only uncertainty early today was in the ninth district, formerly strong farmer-laborite, where Representative Knud Wefald, farmer-labor, was being hard pressed by C. G. Selvig, republican.

"Wets" won the only congressional contest in which prohibition was an issue. This was in the fourth congressional district, composed of Ramsey county (St. Paul) where Melvin Maas, ex-service man and republican nominee, won over three other candidates on the question of modification of the Volstead act.

Albin S. Pearson, independent and the only dry of the four candidates, was running second, with Thomas V. Sullivan, farmer-labor modificationist, close behind. Maas' indicated plurality was 3,000.

Governor Christianson received the news of his victory at his home in Dawson where he had gone to vote.

"Fine!" he commented. The heavy vote accorded him is, of course, an unmistakable endorsement of the policies he had initiated and partially executed during his two years in office.

Particularly, the returns are regarded as indicating approval of his reorganization plan, by which he is consolidating and eliminating state departments, endeavoring to fix, rather than scatter, the responsibility, and direct the state's affairs with a minimum of waste effort.

Probably of greatest appeal to voters were the economy methods on which Governor Christianson made an accounting during the campaign, pledging himself to continue the program.

Party leaders were disappointed, however, by the apparently unchanged complexion of the Minnesota delegation in congress.

That the republican efforts were not in vain was indicated by the dwindled farmer-labor support in the seventh, eighth and ninth congressional districts.

The G. O. P. had concentrated its efforts in the ninth district with the state candidates swinging in behind C. G. Selvig, of Crookston, in the most remarkable demonstration of harmony between the congressional and state tickets that Minnesota has witnessed in years. This reflected in the closeness of the race between Selvig and Representative Knud Wefald, farmer-labor incumbent, which was in doubt at an early hour.

Major E. E. Howard, republican, also received strong support from the state committee in the seventh district, but Representative O. J. Kvale, farmer-labor incumbent, was too strongly entrenched in the esteem of his constituents.

Some hope had been held out that Oscar J. Larson, republican, might win in the eighth district over Representative William L. Carss, farmer-labor incumbent, and Larson made a good showing in Duluth, but the vote in the remainder of the Mesaba range was heavily in favor of Carss. The result in the other congressional districts was as anticipated, republicans winning in all seven. Some of the republican candidates were so certain of the outcome that they did little campaigning. The most bitter fight was in Ramsey county (St. Paul), the fourth district, where Maas won out.

Dry leaders had hoped that Pearson would receive a solid support that could not be overcome by the wets, whose votes were split among three modificationists.

Representative Frank Clague, republican incumbent, in the second district, was the only unopposed congressional candidate.

Legislative returns were slow in coming in today and there were any number of uncertain races, but on the whole the trend of the vote on the state ticket was followed and it was certain that both houses would be overwhelmingly republican.

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—Indicated winners of congressional and state positions in Tuesday's election are:

For Congress—First, Representative Allen J. Furrow, Rochester, republican, over L. B. Hanna, farmer-labor.

Second, Representative Frank Clague, Redwood Falls, republican, unopposed.

Third, Representative A. H. Andresen, Red Wing, republican, over C. S. Kolars, farmer-labor, and A. M. Gagen, democrat.

Fourth, Melvin Maas, St. Paul, republican, over Albin S. Pearson, independent dry; Thomas V. Sullivan, farmer-labor, and Henry F. Wessel, democrat.

Fifth, Representative Walter H. Newton, Minneapolis, republican, over Albert G. Bastis, farmer-labor, and Fred Jensen, democrat.

Sixth, Representative Harold Knutson, St. Cloud, republican, over Judge Joseph B. Himsel, farmer-labor.

Seventh, Rev. O. J. Kvale, farmer-labor, incumbent, over Major E. E. Howard, republican.

Eighth, Representative William L. Carss, Carlton, farmer-labor, over Oscar J. Larson, republican.

Ninth—C. E. Selvig, republican, over Representative Knud Wefald, farmer-labor, incumbent.

Tenth, Representative G. G. Goodwin, Minneapolis, republican, over Ernest C. A. Lundeen, farmer-labor, and H. A. Finlayson, democrat.

State Offices—Governor Theodore Christianson, republican, over Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor, and Henry Jacques, democrat.

Lieutenant Governor—W. I. Nolan, republican incumbent, over Emil E. Holmes, farmer-labor, and Charles D. Johnson, democrat.

Secretary of State—Mike Holm, republican incumbent, over Charles Olson, farmer-labor.

State Auditor—Ray P. Chase, republican incumbent, over S. O. Tjosvold, farmer-labor.

State Treasurer, Julius A. Schmalz republican incumbent, over Thomas J. Meighen, farmer-labor.

Attorney General—Clifford L. Hilton, republican incumbent, over Frank E. McAllister, farmer-labor, and George Cahill, democrat.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner—O. P. B. Jacobson, republican incumbent, over Thomas Vollm, farmer-labor.

Clerk of Supreme Court—Grace Kaercher, republican incumbent, over Minnie Cederholm, farmer-labor, and Winnifred McDermott, democrat.

PRISONERS TOOK POSSESSION OF

EFFORTS

New York, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Rioting which may have cost one or more lives broke out in the Tombs prison this afternoon.

A half hour after the riot began the exact situation was unknown but 200 policemen and prison guards were still mounted on the walls and around the building firing occasional shots into the prison yard, while others attempted to determine how far the insurrection had spread.

The first overt act of the riot came when three men, armed with shotguns, came into the prison yard, approached the guard house at the gate, levelled their guns and ordered the guard to put up his hands.

From the prison he was seen to raise his hands, but a few moments later the attackers fired at him with their shotguns. The guard fell. It was believed he was fatally wounded.

The alarm was given and 200 officers laid siege to the yard. The trio of prisoners retreated behind a coal house and there prepared for battle.

Shots were fired each time they showed themselves.

A machine gun mounted on the wall commanded the yard area while officers at other vantage points stood with drawn guns.

Many rumors went around, including one that two of the rioters had committed suicide, but there was no immediate verification. Warden Peter Mallon was reported to have been fatally wounded.

A detective who had been in the prison at the time said it was believed that Red McKenna, held there for complicity in the Reid ice cream factory robbery on Long Island, was connected with the plot.

ILLINOIS VOTERS ELECT SMITH TO THE SENATE

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Illinois voters gambled with the wishes of the United States senate in Tuesday's election and elected Frank L. Smith to that body despite the fact his seating is almost certain to be contested on the floor of the senate.

In the face of Smith's admission that he accepted campaign gifts from the utility interests whose rates he regulated as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, he was given a plurality over George E. Brennan, "dripping wet" democrat, which may reach 75,000 or more.

Returns from 4,969 of the state's 6,181 precincts gave Smith 652,966 votes and Brennan 541,838. Most of the precincts yet to be heard from are in dry republican strongholds downstate which are expected to boost Smith's lead from about 20,000 to 75,000.

Hugh S. Magill, who entered the senatorial race as an independent republican as a protest against Smith's campaign record in the primary and whose supporters claimed him to be "drier than Smith," polled an extremely small vote and was virtually out of the running an hour or so after the polls closed.

HAWES ELECTED IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Election of Harry B. Hawes, democrat, by a plurality of more than 40,000 votes seemed certain as late precincts from rural Missouri were tabulated today.

Returns from 3,472 precincts of the state's 4,086, gave Hawes 455,812, Senator George H. Williams, republican, 408,722.

The proposition to repeal the state prohibition law appears to have been badly defeated by the rural vote.

PRES. COOLIDGE CLINGS TO HIS ECONOMY PLAN

Washington, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Clinging to his economy program as the administration hope in 1928 President Coolidge after a hasty glance this morning at election returns, started work on cutting government budget estimates.

Director of the Budget Lord and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and his experts were called to the White House to go over the naval budget.

Neither Mr. Coolidge nor other White House officials would comment on the defeat of Senator William M. Butler, Massachusetts, whose election the president urged in his only campaign statement.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—Aimee Sempie McPherson today was ordered bound over to superior court for trial on charges of criminal conspiracy and perjury.

Action followed a five weeks' preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Samuel R. Blake, of the evangelist and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, who was also held to answer to the higher court.

Both defendants were ordered held under bond of $2,500 each.

Mrs. McPherson and "Mother" Kennedy had anticipated such action. They were modestly dressed and in the court room when the decision was handed down.

Judge Blake's decision was preceded by two hours of final arguments by District Attorney Asa Keyes for the state and Attorney W. I. Gilbert for the defense.

"It was to be expected. It was all framed against me," said Mrs. McPherson as the verdict was rendered. "But my conscience is clear before God and man. I know I will be vindicated when I am put on trial in superior court."

Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman, self confessed conspirator and star state's witness, was ordered held for trial also. She plans, according to her counsel, to plead guilty and ask for probation.

According to this new version, it was not 15-year-old Anteo Zamboni who fired at Il Duce, but another person, whom the police have identified.

This person escaped while the youth, frightened, was mistaken for the culprit by the crowd which battered and kicked him to death.

STATE BEGINS EFFORT TO SOLVE
FOUR YEAR OLD MYSTERY

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 3.—(UP)—With a "Hear ye! Hear ye! Hear ye!" from the court crier, the case of the state of New Jersey against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, Henry Stevens and Willie Stevens went on trial today.

Mrs. Hall and her brothers, charged with the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, sat in the crowded Somerset county court room as the state began its efforts to solve a four year old mystery.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 3.—The jury in the Hall-Mills murder case was completed today at 11:25 A. M.

The state's version of the manner in which Dr. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills met death was related dramatically today before the jury which will determine the guilt of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens.

Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, in an opening address that lasted but 20 minutes, described the double murder as a noncommittal of natural jealousies, occasioned by the New Brunswick rector's love for the young choir singer.

Simpson mentioned Mrs. Mills' fondness for literature and the finer things of life, which had been denied her in the marriage to a church sexton.

"To her Hall was a sort of demigod," Simpson boomed, "and Mrs. Mills came to love him."

Then turning to the case of Dr. Hall, Simpson described the rector as having married an older woman, only to find that the wealth and position he had won were accompanied by a "chill, cold household."

In speaking of the events surrounding Drussey's Lane, where the double murder was committed, Simpson sketched the story told by Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," who said she heard four shots fired and identified Willie Stevens and Mrs. Hall as having been on the scene.

"Mrs. Gibson heard someone say: 'God damn you, let go,'" shouted Simpson. "Then came the shots. A short while afterward Mrs. Gibson returned and saw Mrs. Hall crying."

The finger prints found on a visiting card left beside the body of the slain rector bore unmistakably the finger prints of Willie Stevens, Simpson said.

John S. Dixon, an accountant, was the first witness called by the state after court had reconvened.

He testified that on the night of the murder at about 8:30 P. M. Willie Stevens had called at his house to inquire a direction. Previously Stevens had said that he was fishing near his home in Lavalette on that night. Dixon lives many miles away in Plainfield.

In the afternoon the corridors of the court house became even more crowded. Upwards of two hundred persons stood outside.

Dixon was a surprise witness. He testified that Stevens was "agitated" and had explained that his sister (Mrs. Hall) had just left him in her automobile.

"Willie asked the way to the Parker House," near the scene of the murder, Dixon said.

NYE RETURNED TO SENATE IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—(UP)—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, republican insurgent, and the three republican congressmen from North Dakota have been returned to Washington.

Nye, the "boy editor" of Coopers-town, won out over four opponents, a democrat, a farmer-laborite, an "agricultural relief republican" who filed as an independent, and a light wines and beer candidate, also an independent.

Governor A. G. Sorlie, who, it is asserted, has deviated from the Non-partisan League, and the remainder of the republican state ticket won out handily.

Indicated congressional district winners are:

First, O. B. Burtness, republican, incumbent.

Second, Thomas Hall, republican, incumbent.

Third, J. H. Sinclair, republican, incumbent.

Returns were being received slowly from rural districts today and it was impossible to estimate the majorities and pluralities of the winners. However, with the city districts reporting heavily in favor of the republican candidates, it was apparent that the state had given a clean endorsement to the G. O. P.

Nye, since he was appointed to the senate, has been a member of the insurgent group and during his campaign attacked the national administration for its agricultural, foreign and other policies.

DEMOCRATS GAIN GOVERNORSHIP IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 3.—(UP)—Democrats apparently have won the governorship of South Dakota. With 300 precincts out of 1,888 heard from W. J. Bullow, democrat, is leading Governor Carl Gunderson, republican, by approximately 10,000.

In the race for United States Senator, Peter N. Norbeck, republican incumbent, apparently has defeated his democratic opponent. Republican incumbents in the house of representatives also were returned.

The race for the United States senate is closer than political observers expected but it is believed there is little chance of the democrats winning other than the governorship.

ALLEGED MEMBER HOLDUP GANG NOW ARRESTED

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Milton Grady of LaCrosse, Wis., alleged member of a holdup gang, which is declared to have terrorized LaCrosse and vicinity for years, was arrested here today.

The arrest was made at the United States army recruiting office where police said Grady attempted to enlist in the army.

Grady is held for LaCrosse authorities.

BROOKHART SWEPT INTO SENATE BY REPUBLICAN SLIDE

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Smith W. Brookhart, republican, was swept into the United States senate from Iowa on the tide of a republican landslide which also gave victory to Governor John Hammill, 11 republican congressmen and the entire state ticket.

Brookhart led over his democratic rival, Claude R. Power, was 198,221 against 159,992 on the basis of returns from 1,401 precincts.

YEAR MARKED IN HISTORY FOR ITS UPSETS

DEMOCRATS FAIL TO GAIN NUMERICAL MAJORITY IN EITHER HOUSE

THEY HAVE GAINED PERHAPS 7
REPUBLICAN SENATE SEATS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 3.—In a year which will be marked for its swift unheralded events, the 1926 congressional election yesterday staged its surprise.

As all the champions of the elements and spirits have been toppled, so were the present republican majorities in the house and senate diminished by the electorate in the biennial conflict of the parties for control.

Although democrats have apparently failed to obtain a numerical majority in either house of congress, they have gained perhaps seven republican senate seats and left the occupancy of another in doubt. They needed nine seats for a clear cut majority.

In the house they have gained 11 seats and 23 are in doubt. It seems likely that they will pick up perhaps 20 republican seats there.

In New York they have elected Al Smith, the wet democrat leader, governor for the fourth time by a majority of around 275,000. Here also they have seized the seat of Senator James W. Wadsworth, republican leader, who was a reckoning power in the party, and they have installed a friend of Smith's, Robert F. Wagner, in the senate.

In Massachusetts they took the chair of Senator William M. Butler, republican national chairman, intimate of President Coolidge, whose candidacy the president endorsed, and they elected David I. Walsh, democrat.

In Arizona, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Oklahoma they have apparently beaten the republican senatorial nominees and installed their own candidates.

Furthermore they have put up such a contest in Colorado that the issue still was in doubt, more than 12 hours after the counting began. It was not so much that they gained seven seats, for it was admitted by republicans that democratic gains were certain after the republican landslide of 1924, but they were hardly expected to make their gains where they did, overthrowing Butler and Wadsworth with one swoop.

Republicans won in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania, where except for Pennsylvania, more doubt was felt than in New York. The Reed senatorial disclosure of high primary expenditures in Pennsylvania and Illinois did not prevent success of the republican primary nominees.

The Missouri contest was held in doubt through the night but indications this morning were that Harry Hawes, democrat, backed by Senator Jim Reed, democrat, Missouri, would defeat Senator Williams, republican incumbent, by perhaps 30,000 majority.

Although economic issues including the tariff were stressed in the campaign, prohibition was supposed to be an issue in several states. The wets won in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Wisconsin and New York. They were defeated in the senatorial races in New Hampshire, Ohio and Illinois. The issue appeared to have had little effect upon the congressional races, the contests being split about even.

In the special referendum, wets appeared to have the edge. The New York and Illinois referendum proposals for modification of the Volstead act to permit states to say what should be considered intoxicating liquor apparently were adopted. The New York wets won by 5 to 1. The majority in Illinois will be somewhat smaller.

The Wisconsin referendum to permit 2.75 per cent beer likewise appears to have received a majority.

None of the proposals, however, will have any binding effect and even though adopted will only express the sentiment of the state in the nature of a petition to congress. (Continued on Page 3)

REAL CULPRIT ESCAPED WHILE CROWD BEAT YOUNG
ZAMBONI

Paris, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Unconfirmed dispatches from Rome today reported that a new version of Sunday's attempt to assassinate Premier Mussolini had circulated through out the city.

According to this new version, it was not 15-year-old Anteo Zamboni who fired at Il Duce, but another person, whom the police have identified.

This person escaped while the youth, frightened, was mistaken for the culprit by the crowd which battered and kicked him to death.

STATE BEGINS EFFORT TO SOLVE
FOUR YEAR OLD MYSTERY

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 3.—(UP)—With a "Hear ye! Hear ye! Hear ye!" from the court crier, the case of the state of New Jersey against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, Henry Stevens and Willie Stevens went on trial today.

Mrs. Hall and her brothers, charged with the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, sat in the crowded Somerset county court room as the state began its efforts to solve a four year old mystery.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 3.—The jury in the Hall-Mills murder case was completed today at 11:25 A. M.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 3.—The state's version of the manner in which Dr. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills met death was related dramatically today before the jury which will determine the guilt of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens.

Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, in an opening address that lasted but 20 minutes, described the double murder as a noncommittal of natural jealousies, occasioned by the New Brunswick rector's love for the young choir singer.

Simpson mentioned Mrs. Mills' fondness for literature and the finer things of life, which had been denied her in the marriage to a church sexton.

"To her Hall was a sort of demigod," Simpson boomed, "and Mrs. Mills came to love him."

Then turning to the case of Dr. Hall, Simpson described the rector as having married an older woman, only to find that the wealth and position he had won were accompanied by a "chill, cold household."

In speaking of the events surrounding Derussy's Lane, where the double murder was committed, Simpson sketched the story told by Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," who said she heard four shots fired and identified Willie Stevens and Mrs. Hall as having been on the scene.

"Mrs. Gibson heard someone say: 'God damn you, let go,'" shouted Simpson. "Then came the shots. A short while afterward Mrs. Gibson returned and saw Mrs. Hall crying."

The finger prints found on a visiting card left beside the body of the slain rector bore unmistakably the finger prints of Willie Stevens, Simpson said.

John S. Dixon, an accountant, was the first witness called by the state after court had reconvened.

He testified that on the night of the murder at about 8:30 P. M. Willie Stevens had called at his house to inquire a direction. Previously Stevens had said that he was fishing near his home in Lavalette on that night. Dixon lives many miles away in Plainfield.

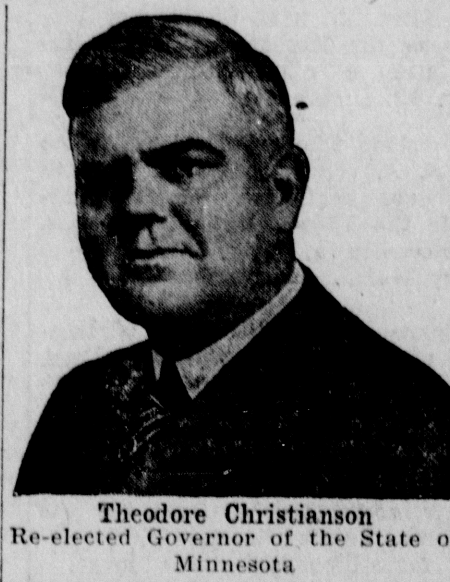

In the afternoon the corridors of the court house became even more crowded. Upwards of two hundred persons stood outside.

Dixon was a surprise witness. He testified that Stevens was "agitated" and had explained that his sister (Mrs. Hall) had just left him in her automobile.

"Willie asked the way to the Parker House," near the scene of the murder, Dixon said.

NEVADA FAVORS

Carson City, Nev., Nov. 3.—(UP)—Nevada voted almost 4 to 1 in favor of a proposal to modify the 18th amendment.

NYE RETURNED TO SENATE IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—(UP)—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, republican insurgent, and the three republican congressmen from North Dakota have been returned to Washington.

Nye, the "boy editor" of Coopers-town, won out over four opponents, a democrat, a farmer-laborite, an "agricultural relief republican" who filed as an independent, and a light wines and beer candidate, also an independent.

Governor A. G. Sorlie, who, it is asserted, has deviated from the Non-partisan League, and the remainder of the republican state ticket won out handily.

Indicated congressional district winners are:

First, O. B. Burtness, republican, incumbent.

Second, Thomas Hall, republican, incumbent.

Third, J. H. Sinclair, republican, incumbent.

Returns were being received slowly from rural districts today and it was impossible to estimate the majorities and pluralities of the winners. However, with the city districts reporting heavily in favor of the republican candidates, it was apparent that the state had given a clean endorsement to the G. O. P.

Nye, since he was appointed to the senate, has been a member of the insurgent group and during his campaign attacked the national administration for its agricultural, foreign and other policies.

DEMOCRATS GAIN
GOVERNORSHIP
IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 3.—(UP)—Democrats apparently have won the governorship of South Dakota. With 300 precincts out of 1,888 heard from W. J. Bullow, democrat, is leading Governor Carl Gunderson, republican, by approximately 10,000.

In the race for United States Senator, Peter N. Norbeck, republican incumbent, apparently has defeated his democratic opponent. Republican incumbents in the house of representatives also were returned.

The race for the United States senate is closer than political observers expected but it is believed there is little chance of the democrats winning other than the governorship.

ALLEGED MEMBER
HOLDUP GANG
NOW ARRESTED

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Milton Grady of LaCrosse, Wis., alleged member of a holdup gang, which is declared to have terrorized LaCrosse and vicinity for years, was arrested here today.

The arrest was made at the United States army recruiting office where police said Grady attempted to enlist in the army.

Grady is held for LaCrosse authorities.

BROOKHART SWEPT INTO SENATE BY REPUBLICAN SLIDE

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Smith W. Brookhart, republican, was swept into the United States senate from Iowa on the tide of a republican landslide which also gave victory to Governor John Hammill, 11 republican congressmen and the entire state ticket.

Brookhart's lead over his democratic rival, Claude R. Power, was 198,291 against 159,992 on the basis of returns from 1,401 precincts.

YEAR MARKED
IN HISTORY
FOR ITS UPSETS

DEMOCRATS FAIL TO GAIN NUMERICAL MAJORITY IN EITHER HOUSE

THEY HAVE GAINED PERHAPS 7 REPUBLICAN SENATE SEATS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 3.—In a year which will be marked for its swift unheralded events, the 1926 congressional election yesterday staged its surprise.

As all the champions of the elements and spirits have been toppled, so were the present republican majorities in the house and senate diminished by the electorate in the biennial conflict of the parties for control.

Although democrats have apparently failed to obtain a numerical majority in either house of congress, they have gained perhaps seven republican senate seats and left the occupancy of another in doubt. They needed nine seats for a clear cut majority.

In the house they have gained 11 seats and 23 are in doubt. It seems likely that they will pick up perhaps 20 republican seats there.

In New York they have elected Al Smith, the wet democrat leader, governor for the fourth time by a majority of around 275,000. Here also they have seized the seat of Senator James W. Wadsworth, republican leader, who was a reckoning power in the party, and they have installed a friend of Smith's, Robert F. Wagner, in the senate.

In Massachusetts they took the chair of Senator William M. Butler, republican national chairman, intimate of President Coolidge, whose candidacy the president endorsed, and they elected David I. Walsh, democrat.

In Arizona, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Oklahoma they have apparently beaten the republican senatorial nominees and installed their own candidates.

Furthermore they have put up such a contest in Colorado that the issue still was in doubt, more than 12 hours after the counting began. It was not so much that they gained seven seats, for it was admitted by republicans that democratic gains were certain after the republican landslide of 1924, but they were hardly expected to make the gains where they did, overthrowing Butler and Wadsworth with one swoop.

Republicans won in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania, where except for Pennsylvania, more doubt was felt than in New York. The Reed senatorial disclosure of high primary expenditures in Pennsylvania and Illinois did not prevent success of the republican primary nominees.

The Missouri contest was held in doubt through the night but indications this morning were that Harry Hawes, democrat, backed by Senator Jim Reed, democrat, Missouri, would defeat Senator Williams, republican incumbent, by perhaps 30,000 majority.

Although economic issues including the tariff were stressed in the campaign, prohibition was supposed to be an issue in several states. The wets won in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Wisconsin and New York. They were defeated in the senatorial races in New Hampshire, Ohio and Illinois. The issue appeared to have had little effect upon the congressional races, the contests being split about even.

In the special referendum, wets appeared to have the edge. The New York and Illinois referendum proposals for modification of the Volstead act to permit states to say what should be considered intoxicating liquor apparently were adopted. The New York wets won by 5 to 1. The majority in Illinois will be somewhat smaller.

The Wisconsin referendum to permit 2.75 per cent beer likewise appears to have received a majority.

None of the proposals, however, will have any binding effect and even though adopted will only express the sentiment of the state in the nature of a petition to congress.

Lindquist-Oberg
Palms, cybotium ferns and cathedral candles banked the sanctuary of Grace Lutheran church for the wedding of Miss Grace Mabel Oberg, daughter of Mrs. Emma Oberg, 621 Fifth avenue SE., and Dr. Richard H. Lindquist, son of Mrs. Ella Lindquist, 2300 Sixteenth avenue S., which took place last evening. Rev. C. A. Wendall read the service at 8:30 o'clock. Carl Malmstrom, organist, played several of the bride's favorite organ selections before the ceremony. "Nuptial March" was played for the processional music, and the "Swedish Wedding March" for the recessional. During the ceremony "Liebestraum," Liszt, was played. Miss Elvera Redlund sang "I Love Thee," Grieg, and "Thou Art as Lovely as a Flower," Smith. The bridal attendants entered from the sacristy and met at the center aisle of the church to form two rows between which the bride, ringbearer and flower girl walked. As the bride met the bridegroom at the altar, the attendants followed in pairs to the chancel railing. Walter E. Lindquist was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Martin G. Lindquist, Carl Irving Pholson, Dr. George E. Johnson and Arthur B. Gunnarson. The bride's attendants wore gowns of chiffon in autumn colors with flared skirts, and bertha capes forming deep V necklines in back and ending in long streamers. Mrs. Arthur J. Oberg (Vinnette Anderson), the matron of honor, was gowned in flame color and Miss Florence Oberg, sister of the bride, the maid of honor, wore a gown of sunburst chiffon over gold cloth. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Irene Peterson Lauer, gowned in apricot chiffon over gold cloth; Miss Cora Mattson, whose gown was pumpkin yellow over gold, and Miss Irene Evans, who wore tangerine red over gold cloth. Their flowers were chrysanthemums in autumn colors. The juvenile attendants preceded the bride. They were Harriet Oberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Oberg of Chicago City, the flower girl, who wore a ruffled gold cloth frock over green and carried a basket of pink rosebuds, and Richard Lindquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford F. Lindquist, the ringbearer, who wore a black velvet page suit.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon with pearl ornaments holding the shirring at the sides, and with a front panel and court train of chiffon brocade. Valenciennes lace with silver traceries trimmed the sleeves of shirred chiffon. Her veil of tulle was arranged with a coronet of pearls and crystals. Bride roses and lilies of the valley formed her shower bouquet.

A reception for 200 guests in the church parlors followed the ceremony. chrysanthemums, oak leaves and smilax were the decorations. Mrs. Emma Oberg, who wore a gown of grey georgette, with a corsage bouquet of violets, and Mrs. Ella Lindquist, who was gowned in blue georgette with a corsage bouquet of red roses, were in the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Lindquist. Mrs. Lindquist is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, class of 1918. Dr. Lindquist was graduated from the University medical school in 1921.

Pre-nuptial entertaining included a dinner given Thursday evening by the bride's mother.—Minneapolis Journal.

ceremony. "Nuptial March" was played for the processional music, and the "Swedish Wedding March" for the recessional. During the ceremony "Liebestraum," Liszt, was played. Miss Elvera Redlund sang "I Love Thee," Grieg, and "Thou Art as Lovely as a Flower," Smith. The bride attendants entered from the sacristy and met at the center aisle of the church to form two rows between which the bride, ringbearer and flower girl walked. As the bride met the bridegroom at the altar, the attendants followed in pairs to the chancel railing. Walter E. Lindquist was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Martin G. Lindquist, Carl Irving Pholson, Dr. George E. Johnson and Arthur B. Gunnarson. The bride's attendants wore gowns of chiffon in autumn colors with flared skirts, and bertha capes forming deep V necklines in back and ending in long streamers. Mrs. Arthur J. Oberg (Vinnette Anderson), the matron of honor, was gowned in flame color and Miss Florence Oberg, sister of the bride, the maid of honor, wore a gown of sunburst chiffon over gold cloth. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Irene Peterson Lauer, gowned in apricot chiffon over gold cloth; Miss Cora Mattson, whose gown was pumpkin yellow over gold, and Miss Irene Evans, who wore tangerine red over gold cloth. Their flowers were chrysanthemums in autumn colors. The juvenile attendants preceded the bride. They were Harriet Oberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Oberg of Chicago City, the flower girl, who wore a ruffled gold cloth frock over green and carried a basket of pink rosebuds, and Richard Lindquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford F. Lindquist, the ringbearer, who wore a black velvet page suit.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon with pearl ornaments holding the shirring at the sides, and with a front panel and court train of chiffon brocade. Valenciennes lace with silver traceries trimmed the sleeves of shirred chiffon. Her veil of tulle was arranged with a coronet of pearls and crystals. Bride roses and lilies of the valley formed her shower bouquet.

A reception for 200 guests in the church parlors followed the ceremony, chrysanthemums, oak leaves and smilax were the decorations. Mrs. Emma Oberg, who wore a gown of grey georgette, with a corsage bouquet of violets, and Mrs. Ella Lindquist, who was gowned in blue georgette with a corsage bouquet of red roses, were in the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Lindquist. Mrs. Lindquist is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, class of 1918. Dr. Lindquist was graduated from the University medical school in 1921.

Pre-nuptial entertaining included a dinner given Thursday evening by the bride's mother.—Minneapolis Journal.

Miss Oberg, until two years ago was the domestic arts instructor at the high school and was very active and popular in both school and musical circles.

Nebraska Governorship Is Still in Doubt

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—(UP)—Nebraska's gubernatorial election was still in doubt early today with Adam McMullen, incumbent republican, holding a meager lead over Charles W. Bryan, democrat.

Bryan, former governor of Nebraska, vice presidential candidate in 1924 and a brother of the late William Jennings Bryan, ran a tremendously close race against McMullen and at times was out in front.

The latest count, however, which was from 1,265 precincts, gave McMullen 132,864, Bryan 130,540.

CALIFORNIA REPEALS STATE DRY LAW

San Francisco, Nov. 3.—(UP)—California has repealed the state's dry enforcement law, downed the bill to legalize horse race betting, forbidden placing the Bible in the schools and gone against a measure to place a two-cent tax on oleomargarine on the face of returns compiled today.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION STAGES SURPRISES

Congress can then disregard it if it pleases.

Returns indicated that wets by no means will be able to control the next congress, although they did make some gains.

There were upsets too in the gubernatorial races. L. J. Patterson, republican, Oregon, defeated the present governor, Walter M. Pierce, democrat. Governor Carl Gunderson, republican, South Dakota, was defeated by W. J. Bullow, democrat.

Nellie Taylor Ross, democratic governor of Wyoming and the only woman governor in the land since defeat of "Ma" Ferguson in the Texas primary, was trailing Frank C. Emerson, republican, with about half the state recorded.

Democrats won back the governorship of Colorado when William H. Adams, democratic candidate, ran ahead of his ticket.

The legislative effect of the election will be to deprive the administration republican group, particularly in the United States senate, of their working majorities upon partisan legislation.

The independent group was swelled by the addition of Senator-elect John J. Blaine in Wisconsin and Smith W. Brookhart in Iowa, and it will again hold a balance of power which if swayed to the democrats would permit the coalition to prevail in legislative matters.

DEMOCRATS PICK UP 11

G. O. P. SEATS IN CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 3.—Democrats picked up 11 republican house seats in yesterday's congressional election on incomplete returns tabulated today.

Twenty-three seats—14 of which are now held by republicans and nine by democrats—are still in doubt.

Democratic gains were made in Maryland, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Texas.

Three seats were picked up in Missouri, two in Indiana and one in each of the other states.

Prospects are that the gains will be slightly further increased by full returns but it is considered improbable that the democrats can capture the house. Under the present alignment they need 36 seats for a clear majority and 32 for a plurality.

"North Coast Limited" Equipment Selected for Queen Marie's "Traveling Palace" in America

For thirty-nine days Queen Marie and her royal entourage are living, traveling and receiving guests in Northern Pacific cars. The Queen's parlor or reception room is one of the new observation cars running regularly in the "North Coast Limited". The lounge or reception hall resembles the living room of a modern home, with deep, comfortable divans, restful chairs and library lamps. The car has a broad sight-seeing platform with a searchlight for "night-seeing". The searchlight has the same power as the locomotive headlight. In addition to the main lounge, the car has two card rooms, a large boudoir and bath, a barber and beauty shop, a second bath and a buffet. The windows of this car are the largest windows ever built in an observation car.

The Queen and Princess Ileana are living in the "Yellowstone", the business car of the president of the Northern Pacific. A "North Coast Limited" dining car is serving members of the royal party.

The Northern Pacific dining car department has arranged to serve typical Northwest foods, such as fruit and dairy products, wild duck, wild rice, elk, bear, buffalo and salmon.

The train reached Minneapolis and St. Paul from Winnipeg October 31 and left November 1 over the Northern Pacific for the trip through the American Northwest. Brief stops will be made at Bismarck, the capital of North Dakota, and Helena, capital of Montana, because of invitation from Governor A. J. Sorlie of North Dakota, and Governor J. E. Erickson of Montana.

At the Queen's request a stop will be made at Mandan, N. D., where she will meet Indians of the Sioux tribe. One member of the reception committee is expected to be Red Tomahawk, who killed Sitting Bull. The Indians are planning to honor the Queen in their own way by making her a member of their historic tribe, and presenting her with a tribal gift, according to an ancient custom.

A real western rodeo will be conducted at Medora, N. D., in the Badlands of North Dakota, the ranch home of the late President Roosevelt. This has been arranged by the cowboys of the Little Missouri River country. Plans for the rodeo have been in progress for weeks.

The train will follow closely the trail of Lewis and Clark on their 1803-06 historic expedition of the Northwest through the Red River Valley, through the Yellowstone Valley, will cross the American Rockies into the Inland Empire, to Spokane and to the Columbia River and Cascade Mountains.

Queen Marie will dedicate the new Maryhill Fine Arts museum, Maryhill, Wash. This museum, which is located between Spokane and Portland, was built by Samuel Hill, son-in-law of the late James J. Hill. The Queen is bringing a baggage car of Rumanian treasures to this museum.

Whale Meat Like Beef

The whale is a warm-blooded mammal and its flesh is exactly similar to beef with but slightly coarser texture. The canned product has no oily taste and it is cheap, palatable, and easily digested. The analysis of canned whale meat has shown that its food value may be compared with that of round steak. Some time ago it was estimated that 100,000,000 pounds of whale meat could be supplied the people of the American continent from the British Columbia coast annually at a price of about 12½ cents a pound.

Lark at Exhibition

The bird was not molested, but galloped free across the nest through a wire device, thoughtfully fixed by bird lovers. Although thousands of visitors came in close proximity, the bird sat undisturbed on the nest all the eggs were hatched.

It hampers the farmer in his operations. The load of a farm investment in its proper light should be a stimulator instead of an obstructing burden.

Many a man has achieved success because he had a responsibility in the way of the purchase of a farm or a business that made him have to win; but there must be a fair prospect that the battle can be won or the stimulus, the encouragement to continued effort, wanes. THE LIVELY ELECTION ADS

FOR some weeks the average newspaper has carried a gallery of candidates, and the smiling faces of the candidates were most pleasing to behold. Just as soon as the portals closed on election contests, the faces dropped from the pages and their places were taken by prosaic business announcements concerning manufactured articles and such things.

The endeavors of the various candidates to be elected results in using a lot of printers ink in the shape of advertisements and printed circulars, etc. The printed word shows its efficacy.

It is difficult to gain large crowds to hear addresses. The radio, the newspaper, the magazine supply their quota of developments in political news. During the campaign just closed, speakers as a rule were not able to gain very large audiences.

THE COURT COMMISSIONERSHIP

IN all this turmoil of politics one office seems to have gone by the boards without any campaigning devoted to it. We refer to the office of court commissionership.

The court commissioner of the past is G. W. Chadbourne. The duties of the office are not arduous ones, neither do they carry heavy emoluments in the shape of fees. At last reports Mr. Chadbourne had gained some votes and on the face of reports made, friends of D. D. Schrader had written his name on the ballots. As the matter stands it may be a race between Mr. Chadbourne and Mr. Schrader.

AITKIN BENEFITED BY BRAINERD PAVEMENT

THE Aitkin Independent Age mentions that Aitkin is also benefited by the new Brainerd pavement.

Paving work between Little Falls and Brainerd after completion will be given time to season, and "there will be a concrete highway into the twin cities from Brainerd."

"With several miles of paving between here (Aitkin) and Brainerd, Aitkin is almost as much entitled to celebrate as Brainerd is."

BORN and raised on a farm, I know life from the standpoint of the man who works with his hands. I sympathize with his hopes and share his aspirations. Society needs leaders, men who by their imagination, knowledge and courage furnish the initiative for progress. But it needs followers even more—men who execute what others plan. And I am more concerned for the welfare of those who follow than the prosperity of those who lead. The strong, the rich and the powerful can usually take care of themselves. Their rights should be protected, of course; but they should ask no more. Let us labor to make this a land where every man has a chance, but where no one enjoys a privilege; where material rewards shall, barring the inevitable vicissitudes of life, go to a man in proportion to his ability, and the effort and sacrifice he shall put forth. Open wide to all the door of opportunity, and we shall achieve the fathers' dream of the ultimate America.—Governor Christianson.

"WHEN agriculture has taken all the land it can use in the next generation, there still will be more than 8,000,000 acres of Minnesota land either doing nothing or raising another crop of trees, just according to the way the public votes on the proposed amendment to the state constitution," says John S. Pardee of Duluth, in speaking for the forestry amendment.

"THERE can be no permanent basis for advertising except a representation of the exact truth. Whenever deception, falsehood, and fraud creep in they undermine the whole structure," said President Coolidge in his address before the annual convention, American Association of Advertising Agencies, in Washington on October 27.

THE decision of the Minnesota highway department to keep open our highways during the winter months is good news to us all. This will enable hauling during the winter months and be dollars saved to the state. One more credit mark for Mr. Babcock, says the Fairmont Independent.

THE Hennepin paper mill at Little Falls has increased its capacity from 40 tons to 55 tons of paper daily. New machinery installed and other improvements made cost $70,000. Machinery will be speeded up so that 800 feet of paper will be delivered every minute instead of 610.

NEWSPAPER standardization is still far distant. As things stand, there are more than 70 different sizes of paper rolls needed to print newspapers of 20 varying page arrangements.

"SOME WILD NOTIONS I HAVE KNOWN"

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

"BUSINESS BEFORE PLEASURE"

As if business was the first charge against a man's time. The truth is that many other things have a claim on life prior to business.

On the base of an English grave stone this epitaph is carved, "Here lies ———; born a man, died a grocer."

A man's life does not consist of the groceries he sells, the orders he takes, the contracts he lands or the deals he puts through, but the man he is. No man is a free man who is run by his business—who is so tied to his cash register that he cannot take time to cultivate friendships, enrich his mind, enlarge his horizons and increase his interests.

No one ever saw a humming bird trying to own two nests or worrying over the fact that some other humming bird had a better nest.

The spirit of our life is of far more importance than our bank account. Whenever we grow surly, sulen and sour because of our mad race for business it is a certain sign that the business is costing us too much.

Business is only for the purpose of making possible our highest pleasures. Whenever it usurps the throne it is time for a mutiny.

I have preached many funeral sermons for rich men who were also successful business men, but I have never yet had one of the friends ask me to tell the audience how much money the dead man had accumulated. They always ask me to tell what a good man he was.

Sometimes the things men strive for with the greatest effort while alive, is the thing that is never mentioned when they are dead and their obituary is being written up.

"A man's life consisteth not in the things that he possesseth."

ness. When velvet is used, drapery forms the height of the crown. Trimmed models use the narrow turned-down brims which ripple or lent about the face to give a softening outline.

Beret tams of felt, velour or velvet are worn by all ages. Velvet models are sometimes trimmed in gold thread-work or piping. The most stylish felt tam has a high cuff which is cut in one with the high dented crown. These models are untrimmed save by belting ribbon, as a rule.

Sports hats lean to trims of ribbon, reptile, calf hide or suede used bands. Dressier models often rely solely upon fabric and manipulation for smartness avoiding any sort of rimming. Again, the dress hat may use the popular pin ornament of rhinestone, crystal or colored glass. Touches of gold are used and some of the late models combine fur piping with velvet.

Beige is conceded the most popular color in New York at present. Following beige come black, dark red, green, and bright shades of blue. Head sizes are small in conformity with the closely bobbed headresses. One needs a shoe horn to get into some of the imported models. All hats are worn well down over the eyes and most of them sit fairly straight on the head without being and the remainder of the republican state ticket has been victorious by a vote of confidence that never has been excelled in Minnesota political history.

CHRISTIANSON MAJORITY MOUNTING HIGHER

United Press figures from every section of the state as tabulated today indicated that on the basis of a total of 740,000, the vote for governor would be distributed as follows:

Christianson, 430,000.
Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor, 265,000.

Alfred Jacques, democrat, 45,000.

This mathematical computation would give Christianson a majority of 120,000 over the combined vote of Johnson and Jacques and a lead of 165,000 over Johnson.

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—Substantial majorities for all three of the proposed amendments to the state constitution were indicated in scattering returns from all parts of the state today.

Election officials apparently were counting the votes for and against the amendments after everything else and it was impossible to estimate the ratio of the vote.

The amendments were:
No. 1—Increasing the number of state supreme court justices from four to six.

No. 2—Readjustment of the state tax rate on forestry lands.

No. 3—Legislation limiting the liability of stockholders.

Orange Flowers Much Used for Perfumery

A sight often to be seen in northern Italy in the distilling season is a carload of orange flowers and leaves, their strong aromatic fragrance leaving a long trail of scented air behind.

One way of obtaining the perfume is by distilling the blossoms with water, and the flowers of the bitter-fruited orange tree are chiefly used for this purpose. These smell more strongly and more deliciously than those of the sweet-fruited "Golden Apple," as the Romans called it in the Middle Ages.

Like so many other things this deliciously fragrant oil owes its fame to the whim of fashion. About the year 1680, when great ladies and their squires loved strong perfumes, it came into high favor under the patronage of the Princess Neroli, and was called after her, essence de Neroli.

Owing to its strong scent, the essence of Neroli is of great use, when blended with mixtures, in the complicated perfume industry. These "bouquets" are prepared according to the prevailing fashion and taste.

The composition of these mixtures is a closely guarded secret, and their blending is a singular art, requiring long experience and special aptitude.

Seems Writers Have Been Unjust to Jehu

The fact that Murray's dictionary states that the furious driving of Jehu has provided the English language with a noun, an adjective and a verb, has moved an erudite person to make the devastating discovery that Jehu did not drive rapidly, much less furiously.

The Hebrew, it is said, ought to have been translated "driveth to meditation," and it appears, therefore, that Jehu was noted for his deliberate driving, the exact opposite of the general belief.

As this view seems to be supported by what is known of Jehu's general character, it will be interesting (says an English paper) to know whether future editions of the dictionaries will contain a note explaining that the meanings attached to the use of his name in the English language are entirely unfair to him.

What Is Pathology?

Logos is really the Greek for a word or discourse, and so came to stand for science, and all our "ologies" are sciences of something or other. In the same language, "pathos" stood for suffering, and so, in time, for disease; thus pathology really means the study or science of disease.

In one way, therefore, we can say that since every doctor is interested in disease, he must be a pathologist—and indeed as a student he had to take his course in the subject—but actually the term has become narrowed down to certain aspects of disease. It has, for instance, in practice nothing to do with the cure of disease or with its treatment, but confines itself purely to the scientific effects. The pathologist is, in fact, the research worker of disease.

It Never Fails

I was about to start out on my first day of hiking at Glacier park when Bert stopped me. Bert is one of those fancy cowboys who escort "dudes" over the Glacier trails, and he appears to enjoy it.

You gotta a map an' compass?" he asked, and I assured him I had.

"Well, hev you gotta deck of playin' keards?" he persisted.

"Why a deck of playing cards?" I asked.

"Always carry a deck with you, son, and whenever you get lost an' find yerself all alone in the wilderness set down an' start a game of solitaire. There's jest sure to be some darn fool pop up an' look over your shoulder an' tell you what to do next."—Chicago

"The Family Upstairs" a Pleasing Picture

"The family Upstairs," J. G. Blystone's thirty-eighth production for Fox Films now at the Lyceum, is one of those infinitely simple little plays which makes the man in the audience feel that the lines are aimed directly at him.

There are innumerable human touches and all come "close to home."

Norma Shearer as Child and Woman
The charming Norma Shearer, who is co-starred with Lon Chaney in "The Tower of Lies," directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and coming to the Lyceum Thursday, is again in a role which calls for a wide range of acting on account of the great number of years through which the story runs.

In the early part of the picture she appears as a child, then a young woman and finally as a woman of thirty who has become hardened from contact with the world.

Red Grange Coming in "One Minute to Play"

Saturday and Sunday. Admirers of Red Grange and lovers of football will have the treat of their lives when they see the popular idol in a story that is built around football, and one which gives Red a chance to show the stuff that has made him the greatest player the world has ever had. The climax is a thrilling game through which the "Gridiron Ghost" tears with his unrivalled speed and incomparable technique.

Ireland Deplores Great Decline in All Sports

The failure of Irish athletes in international competitions has provoked much disappointment in Ireland, and the newspapers are discussing the cause of the decline in Irish athletic fame.

Outside of a few clubs in Dublin athletic sports mostly are dormant all over Ireland. The colleges are blamed for lack of interest in athletics.

A first-class stadium is considered necessary and it is suggested that one should be erected as a memorial to General Collins, who was keenly interested in amateur athletics.

CHRISTIANSON MAJORITY MOUNTING HIGHER

and the remainder of the republican state ticket has been victorious by a vote of confidence that never has been exceeded in Minnesota political history.

United Press figures from every section of the state as tabulated today indicated that on the basis of a total of 740,000, the vote for governor would be distributed as follows:

Christianson, 430,000.
Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor, 265,000.

Alfred Jacques, democrat, 45,000.
This mathematical computation would give Christianson a majority of 120,000 over the combined vote of Johnson and Jacques and a lead of 165,000 over Johnson.

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—Substantial majorities for all three of the proposed amendments to the state constitution were indicated in scattering returns from all parts of the state today.

Election officials apparently were counting the votes for and against the amendments after everything else and it was impossible to estimate the ratio of the vote.

The amendments were:
No. 1—Increasing the number of state supreme court justices from four to six.

No. 2—Readjustment of the state tax rate on forestry lands.

No. 3—Legislation limiting the liability of stockholders.

Orange Flowers Much

Used for Perfumery

A sight often to be seen in northern Italy in the distilling season is a cartload of orange flowers and leaves, their strong aromatic fragrance leaving a long trail of scented air behind.

One way of obtaining the perfume is by distilling the blossoms with water, and the flowers of the bitter-fruited orange tree are chiefly used for this purpose. These smell more strongly and more deliciously than those of the sweet-fruited "Golden Apple," as the Romans called it in the Middle Ages.

Like so many other things this deliciously fragrant oil owes its fame to the whim of fashion. About the year 1680, when great ladies and their squires loved strong perfumes, it came into high favor under the patronage of the Princess Neroli, and was called after her, essence de Neroli.

Owing to its strong scent, the essence of Neroli is of great use, when blended with mixtures, in the complicated perfume industry. These "bouquets" are prepared according to the prevailing fashion and taste.

The composition of these mixtures is a closely guarded secret, and their blending is a singular art, requiring long experience and special aptitude.

Seems Writers Have

Been Unjust to Jehu

The fact that Murray's dictionary states that the furious driving of Jehu has provided the English language with a noun, an adjective and a verb, has moved an erudite person to make the devastating discovery that Jehu did not drive rapidly, much less furiously.

The Hebrew, it is said, ought to have been translated "driveth to meditation," and it appears, therefore, that Jehu was noted for his deliberate driving, the exact opposite of the general belief.

As this view seems to be supported by what is known of Jehu's general character, it will be interesting (says an English paper) to know whether future editions of the dictionaries will contain a note explaining that the meanings attached to the use of his name in the English language are entirely unfair to him.

What Is Pathology?

Logos is really the Greek for a word or discourse, and so came to stand for science, and all our "ologies" are sciences of something or other. In the same language, "pathos" stood for suffering, and so, in time, for disease; thus pathology really means the study or science of disease.

In one way, therefore, we can say that since every doctor is interested in disease, he must be a pathologist—and indeed as a student he had to take his course in the subject—but actually the term has become narrowed down to certain aspects of disease. It has, for instance, in practice nothing to do with the cure of disease or with its treatment, but confines itself purely to the scientific effects. The pathologist is, in fact, the research worker of disease.

It Never Fails

I was about to start out on my first day of hiking at Glacier park when Bert stopped me. Bert is one of those fancy cowboys who escort "dudes" over the Glacier trails, and he appears to enjoy it.

"You gotta a map an' compass?" he asked, and I assured him I had.

"Well, hev you gotta deck of playin' keards?" he persisted.

"Why a deck of playing cards?" I asked.

"Always carry a deck with you, son, and whenever you get lost an' find yerself all alone in the wilderness set down an' start a game of solitaire. There's jest sure to be some darn fool pop up an' look over your shoulder an' tell you what to do next."—Chicago

STOVE LEAGUE GETS BUSY ON THE BABE

SUPPOSE HE WANTS $150,000 YEAR SALARY

SUPPOSE HORNSBY WANTS 3
YEAR CONTRACT $50,000
A YEAR?

AND IF BOTH ARE TURNED DOWN WILL THEY HOLD OUT?

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 3. — Supposing, those fans, who never bury baseball, are beginning to ask that Babe Ruth demands a new contract from the New York Yankees calling for $150,000 a year and it is refused.

Supposing Rogers Hornsby goes through with his demand for a three-year contract at $50,000 a year and the St. Louis club turns it down.

Would the two stars hold out? And if they held out, what would happen?

Facing a serious threat of competition from a third major league, organized baseball would be in the most serious predicament it ever has faced.

If Ruth and Hornsby made use of the only defensive weapon a baseball player has, it certainly would become a movement. They would be joined by practically every ball-player who had a new contract to consider and Ruth and Hornsby would draw from them the popular support of the public.

Baseball unions and protective associations in the past have failed, because the proper leadership could not be recruited.

But with Ruth and Hornsby leading the way, no steam roller would be needed to crush down the old rocks in the road.

Friends of Hornsby insist that he will have his way or there will be no other way because he is a good young business man. But it is not so certain about the Babe, because he has been the poorest business man in baseball.

Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, has not said anything about Hornsby's demands.

The first inclination of the two club owners will be, of course, to let them hold out. And they might win by the choke method if only Ruth and Hornsby were concerned.

The magnates, however, know that many of the prominent ball players have been approached by representatives of the third Major league. They know also how much money Ruth and Hornsby could bring for another league and how much they could make barnstorming without any league affiliations.

Value of Copper Skewers

Roasts run through with skewers made of copper are not only juicier, tenderer and more appetizing than those baked in the ordinary way, but they require 30 per cent less time for cooking.

Such are the findings of experts of the home economics department of the University of California. This culinary discovery is explained on the ground that the copper serves to carry heat into the interior of the roast evenly and rapidly, while meat fiber alone has a very low heat conductivity. The experimenters assert that the more copper they used the less the meat lost weight during baking, thus giving an obvious economy of meat shrinkage as well as time and fuel.

Marriage Insurance

Marriage insurance is the latest form of investment in the Holy Land. A "bureau for brides and grooms" has just been opened in Jerusalem, and mothers in humble circumstances need no longer fear that their daughters will be condemned to spinsterhood owing to lack of dowry. Saving up for a dowry begins when a girl is born, or in her early childhood. When she reaches a certain age her name is entered on a "waiting list," and she is thus assured of suitors when she reaches marriageable age. The marriage bureau, which is conducted in accordance with Jewish rites, will prove to what extent romance can be placed upon a sound matrimonial basis.

And it has successfully invaded the field above its price, for motorists have found that higher investment can bring no greater return in the essentials that constitute sound value.

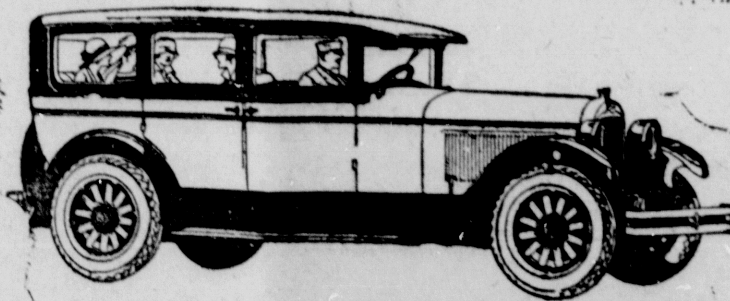

Public appreciation of a new and finer development in motoring was never shown more conclusively and promptly.

Announced two years ago, Hupmobile Eight attained immediate leadership as the ultimate perfection of the straight-eight principle. It has steadily

The reasons for this striking success lie within the car itself. For Hupmobile has brought to the Eight new smoothness and agility, new engineering superiorities and new ease of handling that literally place this car in a class apart.

We could detail at length the advanced engineering features which have contributed to Hupmobile's greatest achievement. But only a ride in the Eight will convince you that this car possesses in an enhanced degree all the virtues of the most costly cars of other types, at a price which immeasurably broadens the eight-cylinder market.

Hupmobile Eight has outsold and is outselling cars of comparable price because it offers far more in beauty and luxury as well as in impressively finer performance.

And it has successfully invaded the field above its price, for motorists have found that higher investment can bring no greater return in the essentials that constitute sound value.

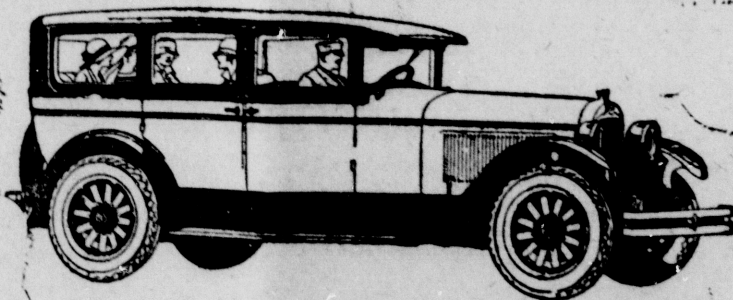

Public appreciation of a new and finer development in motoring was never shown more conclusively and promptly.

Announced two years ago, Hupmobile Eight attained immediate leadership as the ultimate perfection of the straight-eight principle. It has steadily increased its prestige and its hold on popular favor every month since.

The reasons for this striking success lie within the car itself. For Hupmobile has brought to the Eight new smoothness and agility, new engineering superiorities and new ease of handling that literally place this car in a class apart.

We could detail at length the advanced engineering features which have contributed to Hupmobile's greatest achievement. But only a ride in the Eight will convince you that this car possesses in an enhanced degree all the virtues of the most costly cars of other types, at a price which immeasurably broadens the eight-cylinder market.

31 PRECINCTS GIVE ROSENMEIER 1,319 AND HEATH 1,217 VOTES

Crow Wing county election, in brief, insofar as it concerns county officers, saw every candidate for re-election returned to office with the possible exception of sheriff, where according to last minute unofficial returns, Claus A. Theorin was leading the incumbent Fred Reid.

As to state offices these unofficial incomplete totals will give a drift of the vote:

Twenty-three out of 52 precincts of the county give Christianson 1,518, Magnus Johnson 1,481 and Jaques 231. This includes some Brainerd precincts.

For lieutenant governor, 21 unofficial precincts gave Nolan 1,215, Holmes 1,131, and Col. C. D. Johnson 594.

For congressman, 31 unofficial precincts gave Knutson 1,750, Himsal 805.

For senator 53rd district, 31 unofficial precincts gave Rosenmeier 1,319 and Heath 1,217.

A telegram just received from Senator Rosenmeier states: "Morrison county 28 precincts out of 48 not including city of Little Falls give me 2,841, Heath 729. Little Falls will give me a majority of about 800."

Adding these totals for the two counties, 31 precincts Crow Wing county and 28 precincts Morrison county, give Rosenmeier 4,160, Heath 1,946. Add to this the Little Falls vote where Rosenmeier polled a majority of 800 over Heath.

MAYOR TALKS TO ROTARY CLUB

Mayor F. E. Little Gave Advice on How to Better County and City

AT LUNCHEON YESTERDAY

Urges That City Organizations Help Boost City to Tourists and Farmers

Among the speakers at the Rotary club luncheon yesterday noon, was Mayor Frank E. Little, who spoke on "Things to Better Brainerd."

Mayor Little spoke as follows: "There are a great many things that we as citizens of Brainerd should be thankful for, and all of which tend to be a benefit to our city."

"First, we are the very hub of our lake region, with the best of roads leading in all directions, and when our next tourist season opens, I believe the merchants of Brainerd will experience one of the busiest years in the history of our city. All that is needed to bring this about is honest and courteous treatment and a hearty welcome for all our visitors. I will do my best to instruct the police along these lines."

"We also have great possibilities in our dairying and farming, and our closest neighbors, the farmer, should be given just as warm a welcome and made to feel that Brainerd is the safest and best place to trade. We want to show him that we need him and he needs us to bring about the building of our country. This will mean better roads and better farming interests."

"We must have faith in our city, faith in our industry, our business men, our iron mines, and our people as a whole, if the county and city are to prosper. We should all get the spirit of boosting. If business is not as good as it should be, we can not gain anything by telling it to our neighbors. But if we boost it, it will send our stock up 100 percent. The same applies to our city. Talk it until we have the other fellow thinking the same as we do. That is more than half the battle."

"And when spring comes, let us all try to make our streets, business places, and our homes reflect the faith that we have in our city by keeping them as clean and inviting as possible and by so doing we will be helping ourselves and our city to prosperity and happiness."

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

To be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and aching. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills—a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

Miss Weed and the Buzzy Bee

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright.)

RAYMOND jerked his head out of the engine's vitals and listened intently.

A queer buzzing sound smote the languid summer air. The long country road was empty.

A small boy climbed a fence and paused beside the stalled car. "Something busted, mister?" he asked.

Raymond grinned back at the freckled face. "Gone dead, dead as a door nail, son. I'll have to telephone for help. Your folks got a telephone?"

"Yes. The house is way over there," pointing across the road.

The buzzing noise was growing louder. "She's comin' along some fast," he said, looking up the road.

"Who is? What is?" inquired the young man with a smear of grease along his clean-shaven cheek.

"Miss Weed and the buzzy bee."

"The what?"

"It's a flyver—she had an accident once and it makes that buzzy sound. Folks call it the buzzy bee, because Miss Weed does so many things with it—she makes lots of money—she sells eggs and chickens, owns the garage, has bees and sells honey and flowers and garden truck and milk and—"

"I say, son, I wonder if she couldn't give me a tow to a garage?" Raymond strained his eyes toward a small speck approaching along the road. In his mind's eye he could see a large-boned, sun-browned country woman, capable, happy and with that maguiline touch that marks some successful women.

The buzzing had become a noisy roar, and as he turned around, the thing stopped in a cloud of blue vapor. Just then, stepping daintily across the road, came a girl—such a girl as Raymond had dreamed about but never met so far. She wore a short-skirted sport dress of blue cotton, and wide straw hat such as farmers wear; her stockings were blue like her dress and her shoes were sturdy little tan oxfords. Raymond saw these things afterward; now all he saw was the lovely rounded face, the gray eyes set wide apart, the tender mouth and the dimple in the white chin. Perched on a charming nose were absurdly large horn-rimmed spectacles. Raymond was conscious of his smooched face, but the girl did not glance at him at all but bent and kissed the lovely boy.

"Well, Buzzzy, what are you going to buy today?"

"A set of Plymouth Rock eggs. Ma can't spare any of 'em—the house all want to see."

"Did you bring a basket with you? No? Well, run home and get one. I will wait."

Raymond glanced at his watch. He had promised to meet Evelyn Bright at the three o'clock train, and early that morning he had looked upon that meeting as the most important affair of his life. Now, however, he placed Evelyn merely as his sister's particular daim, while the most important person in the world was this girl.

"Miss Weed seems to be delayed in the counting," remarked Raymond.

"Why, she is here!" said the girl in a surprised tone. "I am Miss Weed."

"Why—why?" stammered the red-faced young man, "you're not the Miss Weed who sells eggs and chickens, has bees and sells honey and flowers and—"

She smiled! Poor Raymond was completely vanquished when she interrupted in her cool little voice. "You have been listening to Bannay Smith, who is my proxy agent! I am Miss Weed of the Buzzy Bee house and wagon—and if you are waiting for me—"

Raymond wanted to fall on his knees and tell her that he had been waiting for her all of his adult life, but he pointed at the car and inquired about a garage.

"There is a cod of rope somewhere in back here, but you might let me look at your engine." In a moment she was beside him peering at the parts of the huge car—in a moment she pointed out the difficulty, perfectly obvious if he had not been fussed.

The next day at luncheon, Raymond's sister and her guest came in from a meter ride.

"I was driving," cried Evelyn, "and talking to Julia, when suddenly, bump!"

went the car and there was a fearful crash—such a funny, old flivver full of chickens and vegetables and flowers and eggs—all went up in smoke—I could smell scrambled eggs for miles," she giggled again. "The girl was very stiff and upstage about it—refused fifty dollars I offered her and would not take my card and send in a bill. Just smiled coldly and whitey, and when the funniest boy with a wheelbarrow came, they picked up the seeds and ends, but the eggs—"

"Where did that happen?" demanded Raymond.

"On the hill road—of course I was not looking and it was all my fault, but she would not accept payment—"

"Of course she wouldn't—money cannot make good such carelessness on your part," said Raymond ruthlessly. "Miss Weed was right—I'm going over to tell her so—and apologize." After lunch he disappeared, and the two girls stared at each other.

"There was a look in Raymond's eye," said Julia, "that warns me that I am soon to have a sister-in-law."

"You can at least give me credit for helping it along," said Evelyn with a vindictive little laugh.

Wheat Flour as Food Older Than History

The use of wheat for human food antedates history. It is probable that wheat was too expensive to be used by all the people and hence was used only by the more well-to-do. It thus early became a sign of aristocracy to be able to use wheat as food. Wheat has from early times been a measure of advancing civilization. Barley was one of the early cereals used by the peasantry. We read that Ruth gleaned after the harvesters of Boaz and that it was a barley harvest.

Man soon found that the inside of the cereal grains was better than the outside. He developed tools for crushing the grains and separating the seed coat from the inside portion. This art was probably learned almost as early as the cultivation of grains. The early legends tell us that the goddess Ceres, who taught man the art of agriculture, also taught man how to grind the grains.

Ancient literature speaks of the excellence of the sifted meal. We know that this sifting must have been very crude when compared with our modern sifting on silk bolting cloth. The sifted meal or flour was recognized as a food that belonged to the delicatessen class.

When Abraham, the founder of the Hebrew race, entertained angels unaware, he bade his wife, Sarah, "make ready quickly, three measures of fine meal, knead it and make cakes upon the hearth." We also read that Abraham's nephew, Lot, made a feast and baked unleavened bread. Bread is mentioned as one of the important items of a feast.

The name of Solomon stands in ancient times for splendor, wealth and luxury. Among Solomon's daily provisions are mentioned fine flour and meal. It would be interesting to know the ash content of Solomon's flour. It probably would not pass as very high-grade flour on the ash content.

People who say that it is the modern mill that has taken the best portion out of the grain, would have something to learn from history if they would go back to the old records. The sifting of the outside of the grain from the inside is an art that antedates Greek and Roman civilization.—C. O. Swanson in the National Miller.

World's First Piano

Bought at one time for a cask of wine, the world's original piano, invented by Bartholomew Cristofori, an Italian, in 1726, was lost for more than half a century, its value unknown to its owners, according to A. G. Gulbransen, Chicago piano manufacturer. This famous old instrument was built in Siena originally for Ferdinando De Medici, grand duke of Tuscany.

Dr. Fabio Mocenni, a Florence physician, bought it at a public sale in 1820, giving in payment a cask of wine. The piano was in the doctor's family for years until one day Cavaliere Puliti saw the old instrument and discovered an inscription setting forth that it had been made by Cristofori. Later it was bought by Crosby Brown and presented to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

Miss Weed and the Buzzy Bee

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright.)

RAYMOND jerked his head out of the engine's vitals and listened intently.

A queer buzzing sound smote the languid summer air. The long country road was empty.

A small boy climbed a fence and paused beside the stalled car. "Something busted, mister?" he asked.

Raymond grinned back at the freckled face. "Gone dead, dead as a door nail, son. I'll have to telephone for help. Your folks got a telephone?"

"Yes. The house is way over there," pointing across the road.

The buzzing noise was growing louder. "She's comin' along some fast," he said, looking up the road.

"Who is? What is?" inquired the young man with a smear of grease along his clean-shaven cheek.

"Miss Weed and the buzzy bee."

"The what?"

"It's a flyer—she had an accident once and it makes that buzzy sound. Folks call it the buzzy bee, because Miss Weed does so many things with it—she makes lots of money—she sells eggs and chickens, owns the garage, has bees and sells honey and flowers and garden truck and milk and—"

"I say, son, I wonder if she couldn't give me a tow to a garage?" Raymond strained his eyes toward a small speck approaching along the road. In his mind's eye he could see a large-boned, sun-browned country-woman, capable, happy and with that magnetic touch that marks some successful women.

The buzzing had become a noisy roar, and as he turned around, the thing stopped in a cloud of blue vapor. Just then, stepping daintily across the road, came a girl—such a girl as Raymond had dreamed about but never met so far. She wore a short-skirted sport dress of blue cotton, and wide straw hat such as farmers wear; her stockings were blue like her dress and her shoes were sturdy little tan oxfords. Raymond saw these things afterward; now all he saw was the lovely rounded face, the gray eyes set wide apart, the tender mouth and the dimple in the white chin. Perched on a charming nose were absurdly large horn-rimmed spectacles. Raymond was conscious of his smeared face, but the girl did not glance at him at all but bent and kissed the lucky boy.

"Well, Sonny, what are you going to buy today?"

"A settler of Plymouth Rock eggs. Ma can't spare any of ours—the hens all want to set."

"Did you bring a basket with you?"

No? Well, you have and got one. I will wait."

Raymond glanced at his watch. He had promised to meet Evelyn Bright at the three o'clock train, and early that morning he had looked upon that meeting as the most important matter of his life. Now, however, he placed Evelyn merely as his sister's particular chum, while the most important person in the world was this girl.

She smiled! Poor Raymond was completely vanquished when she interrupted in her cool little voice. "You have been listening to Sammy Smith, who is my press agent! I am Miss Weed of the Buzzy Bee farm and wagon—and if you are waiting for me—"

Raymond wanted to fall on his knees and tell her that he had been waiting for her all of his adult life, but he pointed at the car and inquired about a garage.

"There is a coil of rope somewhere in back here, but you might let me look at your engine." In a moment she was beside him peering at the parts of the huge car—in a moment she pointed out the difficulty, perfectly obvious if he had not been fussed.

The next day at luncheon, Raymond's sister and her guest came in from a motor ride.

"I was driving," cried Evelyn, "and talking to Julia, when suddenly, bump!"

went the car and there was a fearful crash—such a funny, old flapper full of chickens and vegetables and flowers and eggs—all went up in smoke—I could smell scrambled eggs for miles," she giggled again. "The girl was very stiff and uptight about it—refused fifty dollars I offered her and would not take my card and send in a bill. Just smiled coldly and whitely, and when the funniest boy with a wheelbarrow came, they picked up the odds and ends, but the eggs—"

"Where did that happen?" demanded Raymond.

"On the hill road—of course I was not looking and it was all my fault, but she would not accept payment—"

"Of course she wouldn't—money cannot make good such carelessness on your part," said Raymond ruthlessly. "Miss Weed was right—I'm going over to tell her so—and apologize." After lunch he disappeared, and the two girls stared at each other.

"There was a look in Raymond's eye," said Julia, "that warns me that I am soon to have a sister-in-law."

"You can at least give me credit for helping it along," said Evelyn with a vindictive little laugh.

Taylor Makes Valuable Find

"After spending $900 for medicine and doctors in four years without getting any benefit for stomach trouble and bloating I was induced to try MAYR'S and must say that a $1.25 bottle has done me $500 worth of good." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.

Wheat Flour as Food Older Than History

The use of wheat for human food antedates history. It is probable that wheat was too expensive to be used by all the people and hence was used only by the more well-to-do. It thus early became a sign of aristocracy to be able to use wheat as food. Wheat has from early times been a measure of advancing civilization. Barley was one of the early cereals used by the peasantry. We read that Ruth gleaned after the harvesters of Boaz and that it was a barley harvest.

Man soon found that the inside of the cereal grains was better than the outside. He developed tools for crushing the grains and separating the seed coat from the inside portion. This art was probably learned almost as early as the cultivation of grains. The early legends tell us that the goddess Ceres, who taught man the art of agriculture, also taught man how to grind the grains.

Ancient literature speaks of the excellence of the sifted meal. We know that this sifting must have been very crude when compared with our modern sifting on silk bolting cloth. The sifted fine meal or flour was recognized as a food that belonged to the delectable class.

When Abraham, the founder of the Hebrew race, entertained angels unaware, he bade his wife, Sarah, "make ready quickly, three measures of fine meal, knead it and make cakes upon the hearth." We also read that Abraham's nephew, Lot, made a feast and baked unleavened bread. Bread is mentioned as one of the important items of a feast.

The name of Solomon stands in ancient times for splendor, wealth and luxury. Among Solomon's daily provisions are mentioned fine flour and meal. It would be interesting to know the ash content of Solomon's flour. It probably would not pass as very high-grade flour on the ash content.

People who say that it is the modern mill that has taken the best portion out of the grain, would have something to learn from history if they would go back to the old records. The sifting of the outside of the grain from the inside is an art that antedates Greek and Roman civilization.—C. O. Swanson in the National Miller.

World's First Piano

Bought at one time for a cask of wine, the world's original piano, invented by Bartholomew Cristofori, an Italian, in 1726, was lost for more than half a century, its value unknown to its owners, according to A. G. Gulbransen, Chicago piano manufacturer. This famous old instrument was built in Siena originally for Ferdinando De Medici, grand duke of Tuscany.

Dr. Fabio Mocenni, a Florence physician, bought it at a public sale in 1820, giving in payment a cask of wine. The piano was in the doctor's family for years until one day Cavaliere Puliti saw the old instrument and discovered an inscription setting forth that it had been made by Cristofori. Later it was bought by Crosby Brown and presented to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.
